The UK Chief Medical Officers strongly advise that children and teenagers under 16 should not use mobile phones except for short essential calls.

Scroll down to see what other governments are saying.

Read about what scientists are saying...